Endorsement of the European Charter for Researchers and Code of Conduct for the Recruitment of Researchers (Charter and Code)

New University, represented by its rector prof. dr. Matej Avbelj, welcomes and supports the initiative of the European Commission to ensure a supportive research environment for researchers on mobility.

Having endorsed the 40 principles of Charter and Code, we will make our commitment to implement these principles in our institution via the Human Resources Strategy for Researchers (HRS4R).

New University is trying to become one of the leading research universities at the national level, with an increasing international outreach.

The Institute of New University hereby declares its commitment to further implementation of these principles of Charter and the Code via the Human Resources Strategy for Researchers (HRS4R).

We not only support the work and development of individual researchers, but we also aim to maintain the high quality of research in general.

We strongly believe that implementing these principles of the Charter and Code will contribute to further develop the European Research Area and beyond.

Best regards,

prof. dr. Matej Avbelj
Rector of New University
